Letter from the Chairman

Quality Control and Service

In 1933, following passage of the 21st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution repealing Prohibition, North Carolina voted to permit the sale of alcoholic beverages under local control. In 1935, the first county owned and operated Alcohol Beverage Control (ABC) store was opened in Wilson County establishing a control system in the state unlike any other in the country.

In 1937, the State ABC Commission consisting of three members appointed by the governor was established to ensure that the laws and regulations governing the sale of alcoholic beverages were enforced. Through continued modernization and streamlining processes, the present Commission is committed to meeting the goals initially established 70 years ago, while meeting the demands of a rapidly growing and changing state.

In the past decade, North Carolina has seen case shipments of spirituous liquor from the State ABC Warehouse increase by 30%. This growth required the installation of a racking system this fiscal year to better manage space and continue to offer a good selection of products for the local ABC boards. Additionally, we have seen rapid growth in wine production with 48 wineries establishing residence in North Carolina. These wineries harvested 3500 tons of grapes last year, which netted 400,000 cases of wine and ranked North Carolina 12th in the country in wine production.

As you will see throughout this publication, the ABC system generated significant revenue for the state of North Carolina in 2005. We envision this growth will continue and the ABC Commission looks forward to the challenges of regulating a contemporary and profitable control system next year. The Commission will continue encouraging responsible alcohol practices within the retail and commercial ABC industry and is confident that it can balance the needs of a changing business climate while protecting the public welfare.

Best Regards

Douglas A. Fox
Chairman

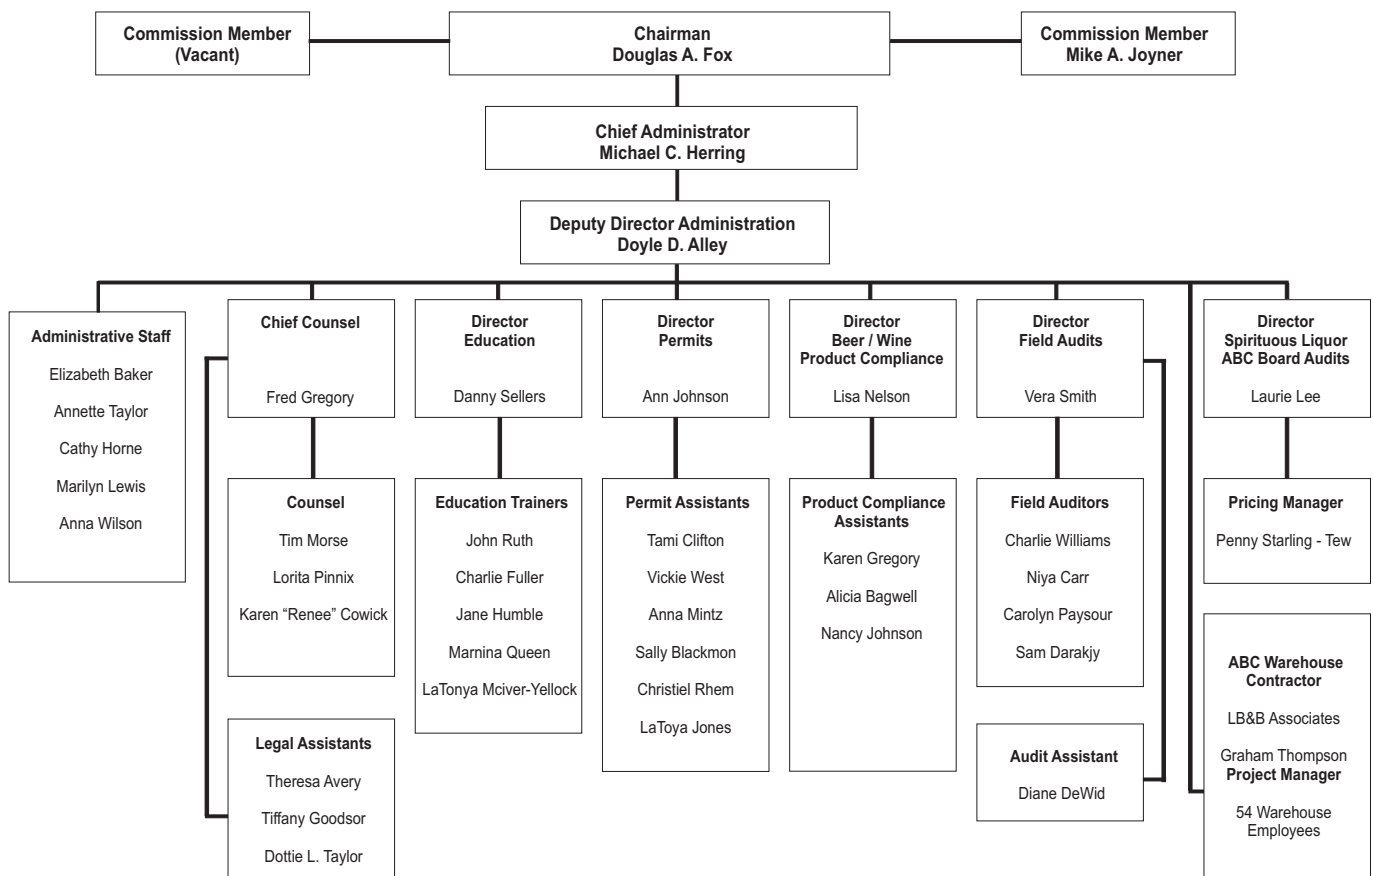

Organizational Structure

North Carolina Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission

In 1935 the North Carolina Legislature authorized the Governor to appoint a commission to study the question of control of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of making recommendations to the 1937 General Assembly. The commission examined two types of control under which spirituous liquor was being sold in other states, one being represented by a State Licensing system and the other by a State Monopoly system. After careful study, the Alcoholic Beverage Control bill was submitted to the General Assembly of 1937, and with a few changes a monopoly system was enacted into law. The Control Act provided for the establishment of a State Board of Control consisting of a Chairman and two associate members who would be appointed by the Governor of the State.

The State Board of Control is today known as the North Carolina Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission. The Control Act provides for a local option plan under which no county or city in the State would be required to sell alcohol unless first approved by the voters. The Commission has the authority to administer the ABC laws, set the prices of alcoholic beverages sold in local ABC stores, determine the brands of alcoholic beverages sold in the state, issue ABC permits, impose sanctions against permittees and adopt rules to carry out the provisions of the ABC laws.

Control States

The Control State Systems

It is the mission of the National Alcohol Beverage Control Association (NABCA) to support and benefit alcohol control systems by providing research, fostering relationships, and managing resources to address policy for the responsible sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages.

Established in 1937, NABCA is the national association representing the Control States - those political jurisdictions that directly control the distribution and sale of beverage alcohol within their borders.

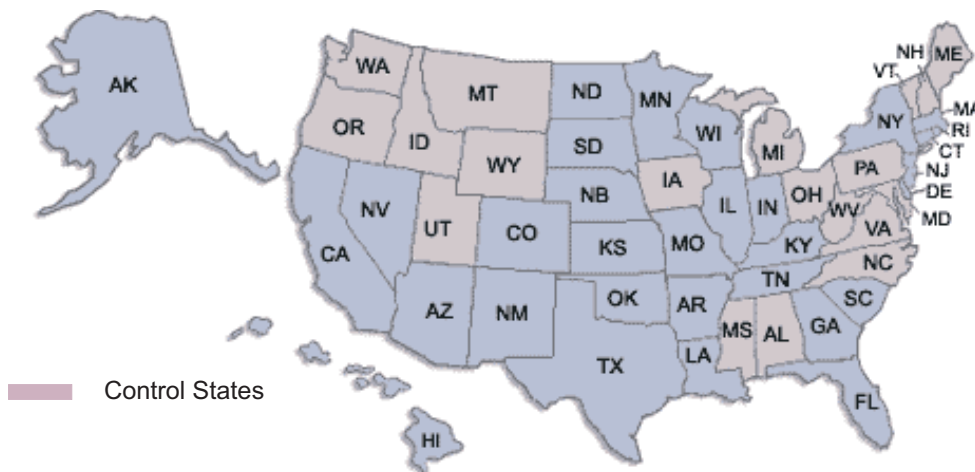

Headquartered in the Washington, DC area, NABCA serves its members as an information clearinghouse and as liaison to federal, state and local governments, research and advocacy groups, the alcohol beverage industry, and other organizations impacting alcohol policy.

Management of the Association is vested in its Board of Directors with one director from each of the voting member Control Jurisdictions and a President elected by the Board annually. Day-to-day administration is the responsibility of a full-time Executive Director and staff.

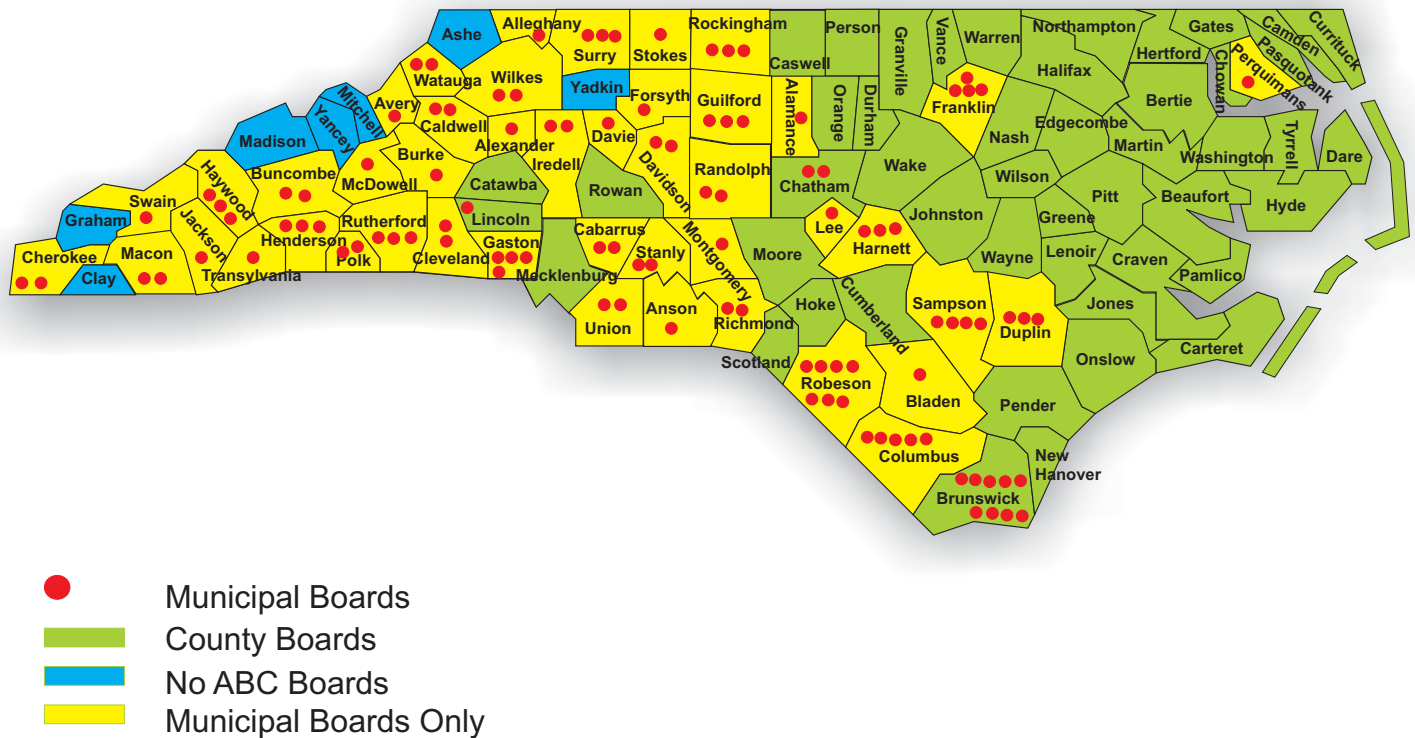

While the Control State systems were founded upon a common principle of market control, the exercise of that control has come to vary from state to state. Some now control only at wholesale; others have retained control at retail exclusively through government-operated stores; and some control the sale of wine, as well as distilled spirits. Sale prices, customer service policies and operating procedures also vary.

Those objectives have evolved over the past seven decades, as public attitudes toward drinking have changed and as the demand for state revenues has increased. In response, the Control State systems have transitioned from their origins as 'dispensaries of last resort' to their role today as efficient, consumer-oriented service agencies.

The Control State systems have focused on achieving the delicate balance of responding to customer concerns; generating revenue for valuable and necessary state programs; improving the overall safety of communities through education, regulation and enforcement; and providing quality service to their customers.

County and Municipal ABC Boards

County and municipal ABC boards in North Carolina are local political subdivisions of the State. They operate as separate entities establishing their own policies and procedures.

Each local ABC board consists of a Chairman and two to four board members appointed by their city, town or county governing authority. They retain authority to set policy and adopt rules in conformity with ABC laws and Commission rules. They have authority to hire and fire local board personnel, including law enforcement. There are presently 154 local ABC boards.

Each local board has the authority and duty to operate at least one profitable ABC store. Additional stores may be operated with the approval of the Commission. A local ABC board may transact business as a corporate body, except as limited by the ABC laws. A local ABC board shall not be considered a public authority under GS 159-7(b)(10).

The system manager is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the store(s) and the adherence to ABC laws, Commission Rules, and guidelines set forth by its local board.

County and Municipal ABC Boards

The Commission along with the North Carolina Association of ABC Boards continued their efforts to stress the importance of modernization, better product selection and better customer service at retail ABC stores in order to counter those who think that government cannot provide a consumer friendly enjoyable shopping experience. The below picture of a modern store in Mecklenburg County offers these services and more.

ABC Board Financial Highlights

Michael C. Herring
Administrator

“The local ABC Boards in North Carolina completed another record year of spirituous liquor sales in 2005 which netted the state over $147 million in Tax revenues and netted local governments over $48 million in profit distributions.”

Spirituous Liquor Revenues

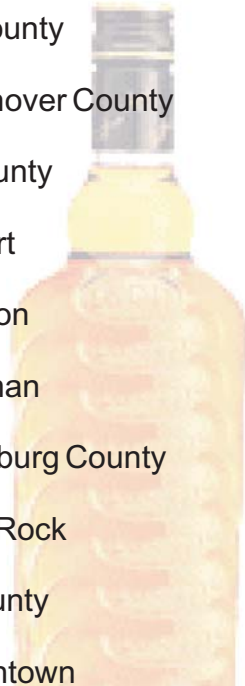

During the Legislative Session of 1935, it became apparent that many sections of the State were dissatisfied with North Carolina's existing prohibition law. Before the session was over, legislation had been passed permitting 17 of the 100 counties in the state to break away from the prohibition system and set up control ABC stores for the legalized sale of whiskey within their counties if passed by local referendums.

The first ABC store to open after prohibition was in Wilson County on July 2, 1935. In the same year, stores opened in Beaufort, Craven, Edgecombe, Greene, Halifax, Lenior, Martin, Nash, New Hanover, Onslow, Pasquotank, Pitt, Vance and Warren counties. Today, there are approximately 396 stores throughout the state.

From the time Prohibition was repealed in 1935 to present, the legal sale of spirituous liquor has provided the State of North Carolina General Fund with over $2.6 billion in taxes.

It has also provided over $1 billion in profits to local City and County general funds, $207 million for alcohol education and rehabilitation, and $142 million to local law enforcement agencies.

ABC Warehouse Operations

North Carolina has a state-owned centrally located warehouse in Raleigh, dedicated and named after Marvin L. Speight, Jr. Speight was Chairman of the North Carolina Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission from 1977 to 1985 and again from 1993 to 1996. He was instrumental in securing support and financing in the early 1980's for the construction of the present ABC Complex.

The administrative oversight of the State Warehouse is the responsibility of the ABC Commission, which contracts with a privately owned services company, currently, LB&B Associates, for the receipt, storage and distribution of spirituous liquor throughout the entire state.

The Warehouse operates under a bailment system, in which the ownership of the product remains with the distillery until it is delivered to the local ABC Boards. The State of North Carolina has no public monies invested in spirituous liquor. The local ABC Boards pay the contractor's fees for the spirituous liquor indirectly. The fee, called "bailment charge," (currently 90 cents per case) is part of the mark-up formula of spirituous liquor and pays for the warehousing and delivery of the liquor to the local boards.

Inventory in the 200,000 square foot warehouse varies throughout the year. On average 350,000 cases are maintained at any given time. The corresponding value will vary from $25 million to $35 million.

There are currently 65 Distillers and nine (9) Distiller Brokerages representing 857 different brands with 1,612 actual product items available to be ordered.

In addition to distributing liquor to the local ABC stores, the warehouse contractor also ships product to several military bases in our state. In the 2004 calendar year, 3,806,924 cases were shipped and for 2005 the projected shipments will exceed four (4) million cases.

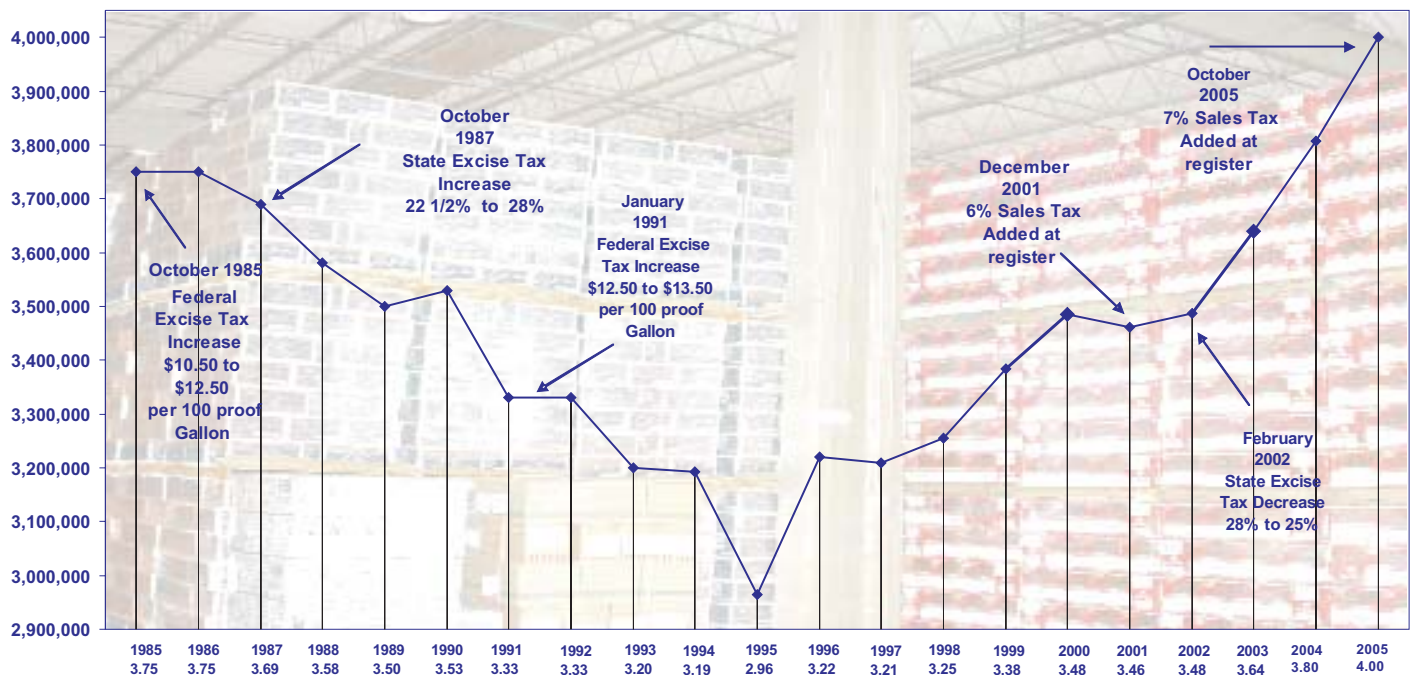

The top five (5) spirits shipped this year were Aristocrat Supreme Vodka, Seagram Extra Dry Gin, Smirnoff Vodka, Seagram Crown Royal Canadian, and Burnett's Vodka, accounting for 571,517 cases sold this year.

North Carolina ABC Warehouse Case Shipments -- Spirituous Liquor

Permit Division

The Commission's Permit Division issues all retail ABC permits to qualified persons and establishments in jurisdictions that have held ABC elections and approved the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Factors the Commission considers in determining whether the applicant and the business location are suitable are: reputation, character and criminal record of the applicant, the number of places already holding ABC permits within the neighborhood, parking, traffic conditions and kinds of businesses already in the neighborhood, distance the establishment is located from a church or school, zoning laws, and recommendations of the local governing body.

The Division also processes applications for non-profit organizations holding fund-raisers and for Limited Special Occasions like birthday parties, wedding receptions, etc.

The holder of an ABC permit must ensure that employees and patrons adhere to the Commission's rules governing the sale, possession, storage and consumption of alcoholic beverages on the licensed premises. Failure to comply with the statutes or the rules of the Commission by permittees, employees and patrons may result in the suspension or revocation of all ABC permits held by a permittee.

There are 35 different retail permits and 27 commercial permits. The most expensive retail permit is the Mixed Beverage permit ($1000). The least expensive retail permits are the Special One-Time ($50) permit and Limited Special Occasion ($50) permit. Commercial permits range in cost from $500 for a Liquor Importer/Bottler to $50 for a Vendor Representative. All permit fees collected are deposited in the state's General Fund.

There are approximately 39,600 outstanding retail permits in North Carolina authorizing the sale of alcoholic beverages in approximately 15,200 retail establishments.

RENEWAL - Brown-bagging, Special Occasion, and Mixed Beverage permits expire on April 30 of each year unless renewed by paying the appropriate renewal fees.

REGISTRATION - Beer and wine permittees must pay an annual $200 registration fee per beer and/or wine permit. The fee must be paid by May 1 of each year.

The Commission has undertaken a project to improve services with an online credit card payment system. This service initially will be available for duplicate permit requests beginning December 2005. Phase two, online payment for renewals and registration, has a projected implementation date of Spring 2006.

Legal Division

The Legal Division is responsible for establishing, maintaining, interpreting and enforcing ABC laws and administrative rules for a uniform and consistent regulatory system of the manufacture, transportation, sale, purchase, possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages in North Carolina. The division also researches and analyzes legal trends, both locally and nationally, and informs Commission members and government representatives on emerging issues.

The attorneys on staff handle inquiries on a broad range of legal topics. These can include review of advertising and promotional materials, exemptions from regulatory requirements, application of labor law to ABC permit holders, analyzing the impact of corporate structural change on the status of ABC permits and explanation of ABC laws and regulations. The requests come from a variety of sources including manufacturers, wholesalers, local ABC board members, ABC Commission staff, law enforcement, government officials and ABC permit-holders.

The Legal Division also processes and prosecutes violations of ABC laws. Upon receipt of violation reports from law enforcement agencies, the staff will send the permittee a “Notice of Alleged Violation” and a “Proposed Stipulation and Offer in Compromise.” If the permit holder accepts the offer to settle the case, the matter is placed on the agenda for ratification by the Commission at one of its monthly meetings. When the case cannot be settled, a staff attorney files a Petition with the Office of Administrative Hearings and represents the ABC Commission at trial. Any monetary penalties collected from the settlement of the administrative cases are distributed to the local school systems.

The ABC Commission’s monthly agenda and meeting summaries can be viewed at www.ncabc.com/legal.

ABC Board Audits and Pricing Division

In North Carolina, all spirituous liquor sold in ABC stores is uniform in price throughout the state as mandated by the North Carolina General Statute 18B-804 (Alcohol Beverage Pricing).

The price of spirituous liquor consists of an 82% markup. A 7% state sales tax is added to the retail price at the cash register. Spirituous liquor sold to mixed beverage permittees for resale includes an additional tax of $20 per four liters.

The Commission issues a North Carolina Liquor Quarterly price list that is effective on the first day of February, May, August and November. The list includes on average 1,600 items. Price changes are made by distiller/suppliers quarterly.

The North Carolina ABC Commission was the first of 18 Control States to develop an Internet pricing system through which distillers/suppliers can update their pricing online. This paperless pricing system was implemented in May 1999.

New brands of liquor are considered and approved each February for listing in the May price book. Likewise, items that are not selling well and delivering minimal profits are removed from the list at this time. The Commission also reserves the right to list or delist items each quarter. Special holiday packages with glass sets or other novelty items are approved in June each year and are available for sale in the November price book quarter.

Spirituous liquor products that are not on the approved state price list can be special ordered in full case allotments. On average, the Commission receives 4 orders and 3-4 inquiries for new items each day. To view the list of current items and prices in our Special Orders database, go to the Special Orders Price List on our website at www.ncabc.com/pricing/special_items.aspx.

Product Compliance Division

The Product Compliance Division is the first point of contact for an establishment or individual engaged in the manufacture, importation, distribution, bottling, transportation or representation of alcoholic beverages. There are 21 types of commercial permits outlined in the Alcoholic Beverage Control Laws and Rules of North Carolina publication. The Division manages approximately 2,700 commercial permits of authorization.

The Division's functions include commercial permits, malt beverage and wine label/product approvals and classifications, supplier/wholesaler territorial assignments, and direct shipments to consumers from in and out-of-state wineries. The Division is tasked with knowing the full range of ABC laws relating to permitting, product labeling, distribution and importation to advise both in and out-of-state business owners, wineries, breweries, micro-breweries, wine/malt beverage wholesalers and importers, as well as non-alcoholic beverage manufactures.

Presently, there are 15,256 wine brands and 1,677 malt beverage brands consisting of 39,823 approved products.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 2005 there were 5,154 new wines and 175 new malt beverages approved for sale.

In North Carolina there are approximately 57 wineries, 32 breweries, 78 wine and malt beverage importers and 217 distributors. There are 1,296 out-of-state vendors - wineries, breweries, importers and wine wholesalers. The number of North Carolina wineries has doubled in the last few years.

North Carolina gained 14 new wineries, 4 new breweries, 19 beer and wine importers, 208 Nonresident Vendors and 94 Wine Shippers in the last fiscal year.

Education and Training Division

Although a legal product, alcohol in the hands of underage persons often ends in tragic consequences. Alcohol continues to be the drug of choice for teenagers in the United States. A recent national survey conducted by the Century Council (2004) indicates 65% of young people surveyed obtained alcohol from older adults rather than businesses.

More than half of the ABC violations received by the North Carolina Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission are for sales to underage persons. A small number of businesses account for the majority of this type of violation. North Carolina currently has approximately 17,000 ABC permitted establishments selling alcoholic beverages. In addition, there are 154 local ABC Boards who sell spirituous liquor in 393 ABC stores throughout the state.

The Education and Training Division was established in 2000 with several goals in mind. At the top of the list was the goal of promoting zero tolerance for underage possession and consumption of alcohol. Other goals included: Educating adults on the negative consequences of excessive and irresponsible consumption of alcoholic beverages; discouraging adults from providing alcohol to underage persons and promoting responsible sales and service of alcoholic beverages by permittees to adults.

ABC Commission Chairman Douglas A. Fox participating in Alcohol Awareness Campaign

FY2005 has been a very busy year for the Division. Several new initiatives have been launched including, "Teach Your Parents Well" program, designed to assist parents in understanding the dangers and legal consequences of providing alcohol to children.

Prior to the start of this year's busy tourism season, the Division partnered with the Carteret County ABC Board and New Hanover County ABC Board in hosting two Responsible Alcohol Seller Program (RASP) workshops in each of their counties. Over 300 people combined attended the workshops.

The Education and Training Division also partnered with the North Carolina Alcohol Law, Enforcement (ALE) Division prior to this year's US Open held in Pinehurst, to provide responsible alcohol seller/server training. Every bartender working the event was trained during the two day workshop.

The ABC Commission joined the Century Council in its National 65% Alcohol Awareness Campaign aimed at informing parents and the public about the dangers of providing alcohol to underage persons.

The Education and Training Division has trained over 6000 employees since July of 2004. Prevention through Education is the cornerstone of the Division's overall mission.
